BAYNES NEW COUNCIL HEAD

"Loyola Day" Activities Begin at 12:20 Next Friday

The initial venture of Loyola College into the field of Amateur Olympics will be held on next Friday, May 5. The celebration, officially termed "Loyola Day," begins with the cancellation of all classes from 12:20 onward; actual competition is scheduled from 12:45 p.m. until 3:30 in the afternoon.

Following these portentous, pretentiously athletic endeavors, which the Student Council is sponsoring, the Block L Club will hold a dance on Saturday evening, May 6, lasting from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Metrecal Milers

Three events which should arouse widespread interest are the "comic contests." First will be a quarter-mile "fat man's relay race;" then, a three-legged race, and an egg-throwing contest, in which a "live" fast ball would be detrimental.

All events will be judged by members of the Student Council and of the Athletic Association. Points will be awarded on a class-wide basis, with trophies going to the top class and to the individual who is judged the best athlete.

War Games

Another interesting and unusual contest will be the tug of war, divided into two classes: unlimited and under 1700 lbs. The weight limit refers to the combined tonnage of the ten students comprising any one team.

Additional track events include a 110 and 220-yard dash for individuals, discus and shotput, running and standing broad-jump, a high-jump competition and a low hurdles racing event.

Throwers and Shooters

Some events which should appeal to the majority of students are the softball and football throws for distance and accuracy, and the foul-shooting contest. Students are asked to change in the lockers.

Spot News

Three Elected

On April 20, the John Gilmary Shea History Academy held elections for new officers. Lew Smith was elected president, and Vince Baldini and Charlie Kloch were re-elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

It was announced at this meeting that a banquet will be held in conjunction with the IRC on May 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

Vive La France

The Mendel Biological Society held elections on April 19. Officers elected were Joe France, president; Charlie Kyper, vice-president; Frank Palmisano, secretary; and Joe Orlando, treasurer.

Greyhound Banquet

On Thursday evening, May 18, the 1960-61 Greyhound will sponsor the annual banquet for all active members of the Greyhound Press Club. Those students, except former editors, who wish to attend should see Bill Hartman, Tim Himmelheber, or Henry Becker by next Wednesday.

"Singin' in the Rain"

The inclement weather last Sunday did not hinder the Glee Club. The audience was small but lively.

The polls are crowded early as elections climax weeks of campaigning by the candidates.

J. Kennedy Is A. A. Pres.; Moore Lancelotta Win

John Baynes defeated George Yurek for the Presidency of the Student Body on Wednesday when 84.9% of the eligible students voted. Baynes recorded 358 votes to Yurek's 102. In the race for the Presidency of the Athletic Association, Jim Kennedy's 308 votes topped the 158 garnered by Jerry Preis. With 95% of the present junior class voting, Dick Moore defeated Lou French for the presidency by a count of 82 to 48.

A rundown of the election according to classes is as follows:

Class of '62: 95% Voting

Vice-president: Tom Duffy
Secretary: John Valentim
Treasurer: John Wessel
Nat. Sc. Rep.: Tom Annulis
So. Sc. Rep.: Joe McCurdy
Bus. Rep.: Frank Musotto

Class of '63: 86.7% Voting

President: Ed Slawski
Vice-president: Pete Genovese
Secretary: Mike Rohm
Treasurer: Tom Kenney
Nat. Sc. Rep.: Tom Cosgrove
So. Sc. Rep.: Ed Conery
Bus. Rep.: Wayne Thompson

Class of '64: 78.5% Voting

President: Chuck Lancelotta
Vice-president: Brian Copenhaver
Secretary: John Nozemack
Treasurer: Ray Messick
Rep. At Large: Jerry Dotterweich
Dick Lawrence.

Fellowships Awarded To Goldsmith

During the past academic year eight seniors and three graduates of Loyola have won a total of ten fellowships, three scholarships, four assistantships, and an honorable mention, totaling in excess of $30,000.

Goldsmith Leads

Leading this fine record is Bob Goldsmith, who has obtained a departmental fellowship and a Gilman Scholarship from the Johns Hopkins University; a fellowship from the chemistry department of the University of Maryland; a three year renewable fellowship from the chemistry department of the Georgetown University; and a graduate assistantship from the chemistry department of Duke University.

Also in the field of chemistry is Raymond Reilly, who has won a teaching fellowship from the chemistry department of the University of Detroit.

Jordan and Hughes

In the mathematics department honors were garnered by Anthony Hughes with a teaching assistantship and a supplementary scholarship for academic excellence from the University of Notre Dame in addition to a National Science

Richard Moore

Foundation graduate fellowship.

Also from the Math department John Jordan received an honorable mention from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

From the Physics and Engineering Departments winners include Francis Spiegel who has received graduate assistantships from Pennsylvania State University and Cornell University; also Gerard Sauer, who has received a teaching assistantship from the University of Buffalo.

Dr. Gray, Judge Curtis

T. Kenny Gray, a pre-med student, won a Warfield Scholarship to the University of Maryland School of Medicine. Thom Curtis won a Dougherty Fellowship to the Villanova University School of Law.

Editorial

What Next?

Anticipating the completion of the Engineering-Physics Building, we would like to suggest the next building project of Loyola College. The probability that further development will take place in the near future is very conditional. Considering recent additions, one a year is a very gratifying record. Financially, if the current development fund drive succeeds, the cost of the new building will soon be history. In regard to the Student Union Center, we understand it is being financed by a long term loan. Of course the greatest problem certainly will be the procurement of additional property. There are other conditions to be considered; but the above are undoubtedly the important ones. We guess that constant consideration is being given them.

The facilities for on-campus study and proper theses research are definitely inadequate. The S.U.B. does not provide an atmosphere for serious study, and rightly so; for it is not intended to do such. The library is uncomfortably located, frequently crowded and noisy, insufficient in size (the meager Math-Physics division will certainly not supplement the new building), and unfortunately unable to prevent harmful theft. We therefore suggest that the next building project be a new library; not an additional floor to the present library, but a building which would be entirely a library.

We do not intend to detract in any way from the recent achievements; nor do we expect too much too soon; we are merely suggesting.

Letter To The Editor

To the Student Body:

This past Saturday evening, the Loyola College Glee Club gave its annual Spring Concert in Cohn Hall. The concert was attended by a huge crowd of about eighty people and a number of Loyola students (about fifteen).

The most interesting occurrence of the evening was that: of all the "class politicians" who have been screaming "School Spirit" for the past month, none was in attendance.

In case some students are misinformed as to the function played by the Glee Club in the life of Loyola, let it be stated for the record that the Glee Club is the second largest organization on campus. It is composed of a group of the hardest working and most loyal students of Loyola, and it does more to spread the good name of Loyola College through Maryland and neighboring states than any other student organization.

Certainly with such an excellent record, the Glee Club deserves a great deal more support and recognition from the student body than was evidenced last Saturday evening.

the Watchdog

When we take a drubbing from a lacrosse team like Hopkins, what can we say? Marty Quinn says: "So what, we've still got the 'personality boys' on our teams." We've still got Rick Campbell, don't we?

Jerry Balda has been running around the track in a yellow outfit for the past few weeks. Jerry likes to run, but he kind of resents those nearsighted fellows who keep yelling "Taxi!" at him.

Confidential to Mr. Schweitzer: We know that the parking facilities have been pretty poor lately but really, Mr. -- on the sidewalk?

It seems to us that one of the biggest "Goals for Americans" is to read the book.

Ed Conery says that when he gets out of college, he is going to study a-broad. That is, if he can find one.

One of the guys in Advanced

R.O.T.C. says that the Army Course has no enemies on campus. One of the guys in Advanced R.O.T.C. is a KOOK!

Now for: Some Radio Notes (or doodlings before a T.V. set with a broken picture tube).

We're glad that elections are over. Maybe now they'll take down that picture of "Big Brother" on the cafeteria wall.

Also since elections are over, we would like to congratulate the "winners." However, since we have so many people on campus to which this word may apply, we won't.

Ever since Albert Brown has sent his picture to relatives in Europe, he has been receiving a monthly Care package.

Did you know that: Henry Becker has just gotten his fifth learner's license. He keeps making the X wrong on the written test.

The Calculus Kid

John Jordan

Every year has its share of intellectuals as well as its share of hard working individuals and active participants in student affairs. However, every now and then, when studying the rank and file of the various classes, an individual is found who has both high intelligence and takes an active part in extra-curricular activities. Such a person is John Jordan of the senior class.

One of the B'hoys

John M. Jordan

John, as well as having been a member of the current Who's Who representation, has served his school well through his participation in the Math and Physics clubs and as the Sports Editor of the 1961 Evergreen Annual. He is a member of the student council and is currently serving the school as the chairman of the Elections Committee.

But, as if participation in all of these extra curriculars wasn't enough, he displays great abilities as a Mathematics major. This is made quite evident by the number of offers which John is currently receiving from various graduate schools around the country.

ARE YOU OLD ENOUGH?—Election Committee Chairman Jordan asks one of the local pollsters.

Past, Perfect and Future

Among the scholarly awards which Mr. Jordan has garnered as a result of his academic status are: honorable mention for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, an assistantship at the University of Virginia, and a fellowship at Purdue. At the present time, John is planning to take the Purdue University Fellowship and switch from his current major to Economics.

The near future seems to hold a challenge for John, who says: "I'm looking forward to the experience of moving from a small Catholic college to a large secular university." This now looms as a big transformation to the senior mathematician; but we're sure that he can take the change in stride and equal the record he has left behind.

Let Me At 'Em

by John Q. Feller

With elections over and the burning of the ballots a thing of the past, business is once again picking up at Andy's. The losers are crying in their beer to the delight of their victorious opponents. As usual, Eddie Murnan is handing out his philosophy of life to anyone willing to listen to the wise old sage. Everything is settling back into normalcy. Nothing to look forward to except exams.

I Salute John Byrnes

With a touch of nostalgia, senior John Byrnes looks back on his career as a spirited Loyolan. In four years, John has crammed innumerable extracurricular activities into his schedule, not the least of which are his political maneuvers.

Truth to tell, John has many faces. When he departs from these ivy halls, he will be mainly recalled as the "Jim Farley" of Evergreen. Their similarities as presidential campaign managers are remarkable. Both were successful in getting large blocks of votes for their various candidates; both have managed to see certain of their candidates win. But the similarity does not end here. While both Jim and John were successful in getting their own candidates elected, neither could win the big prize himself.

Like Jim Farley, we hope that some day John will come out with his version of "Behind the Ballots." I consider it a singular honor to give this "Let Me At 'Em" Salute to Norrie's brother. All Loyolans fear and feel we shall not look upon his like again.

Left Behind

Father Gilvary enjoyed himself so much at the Junior Prom that all of the Jesuits left without him. Luckily, as the lights dimmed, Father found John Baynes, the sole remaining junior; John consented to drive Father home.

Army Takes Over

Three junior ROTC officers managed to sweep the management club elections. Pretty soon, the Army will take over the Hill.

Harbor Lights

The lights are getting dimmer this weekend, to say the least. Ford's is out of action completely; the Lyric is halfway out of action. The movies, however, have changed somewhat from last week, and the summer stock theatres will gradually be coming back into action.

Bob Newhart finally arrives at the Lyric tomorrow night at 8:30 for one performance only.

Painters Mill Music Fair has posted its list of musicals for this season. It includes such hits as "The Pajama Game," "Take Me Along," "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," and "Damn Yankees."

There will be a piano recital tonight at the Peabody Concert Hall. It will be given by Walter Hautzig for the benefit to the scholarship fund, and it begins at 8:30.

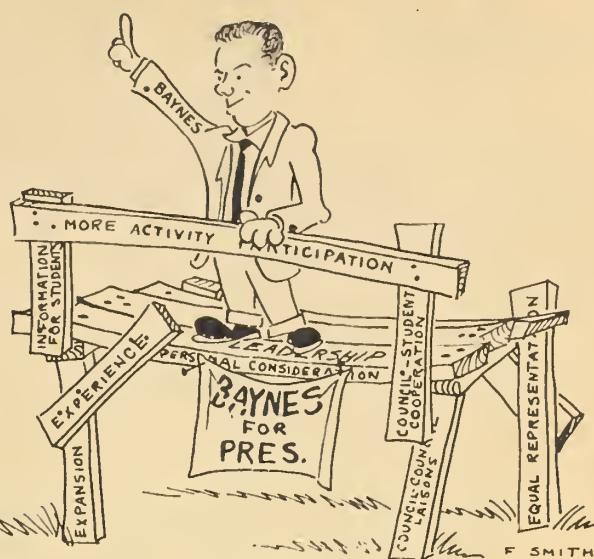

"The Drunkard" at the Four Corners Cabaret Theatre will start each Friday and Saturday hereafter at 9:30.

Tonight and tomorrow night will be the final performances of "The Touch of Fear" presented by the Vagabonds.

The 3rd and last of the Point-to-Point steeplechases will take place tomorrow afternoon. This is the oldest, most traditional and colorful of the three races—the Maryland Hunt Cup; it will be, as usual, in Worthington Valley with post time set at 4:00.

If you think this is a small collection of events, next week you may just have to sit in your car all night.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Dick Cooke

A new plaque for leadership will be awarded this year by the Loyola Alumni Block L Club. The plaque is to be awarded annually hereafter to the varsity player who best exemplifies the quality of leadership and exceptional ability which made him the most outstanding player on his team. There will be a plaque for each of the inter-collegiate sports on the Loyola schedule. The athletes on each squad will select its own outstanding player.

Dr. Michael Ventura, a member of the Alumni Block L Club, will donate the Wrestling Plaque. Dr. Ventura was student coach and wrestler on the first wrestling team in 1941. The first five plaques, for the fall sports will be awarded at the Alumni Block L Club Dance to be held on May 13, here at Loyola. The remaining awards for the spring sports are to be awarded at the Athletic Club Banquet to be held on May 20.

Mohler Trophy

The Mohler Trophy winner is to be elected during the week of May 8. The candidates must be senior athletes who have participated in inter-collegiate sports for three years at Loyola College. Those eligible to vote are the Loyola lettermen. This award will also be made at the Athletic Banquet.

Netters Win 2 Matches

Last week, the Loyola net team came through the heaviest part of its schedule in fine style. The Hounds won two of their last three matches, the loss being a 5-4 squeaker to Towson. On Friday, Loyola downed American U. 5-3 and in the Saturday afternoon match, the Greyhounds defeated Lynchburg by a score of 6-3. Loyola's record now stands at 4-4.

Cummings Stars

Freshman Alex Cummings has been especially impressive for the Hounds. In the A. U. match, Alex defeated his opponent rather easily 6-3, 6-2. When teamed with Jim Mohler, the other "young" member of the squad, they form a truly tough duo.

SPUNKY SPARKLES—Axe Cummings serves in netmen's victory over Lynchburg.

UTILITY MAN—Nick Jackson has recently switched from the outfield to second base as the Hounds baseball team reaches mid-season.

Hound Nine At Mount

Tomorrow the Hounds travel to Emmitsburg for a double header with their arch-rival Mt. St. Marys. Last year the Loyola Hounds and the Saints split two games.

Last week was a busy one for the Hounds. They won three out of four games. The loss was a 12-0 shut out at the hands of Baltimore U's Ron Mather.

The Loyola hitters broke out from their temporary slump by belting American U. pitchers for 15 hits and 17 runs as they defeated A.U. in both games of a double header, 9-4 and 8-1. Charlie Bree broke open the first game with a 3 run double in the fifth inning. Ed Burchell and Charlie Nemecek combined to halt A.U., with Nemecek getting the win.

In the second game, "Bird" Carney, Jim Kennedy, and Jody Satterfield connected for homers. Satterfield pitched the whole game, giving up only 2 hits and one run.

Last Saturday the Hounds defeated Lynchburg, 2-1. Relmond VanDanker pitched eight innings for his first win. Phil Potter finished up. Dave Carney and Jim Kennedy each made fine throws from the outfield to cut down two Lynchburg runs.

Golf Team Meets Mt.

This afternoon at 1 p.m. the Loyola golf team will host the Mt. St. Mary's linksmen at Mount Pleasant. The Hounds, undefeated so far this season, will put their 3-0 record on the line against the Mounts.

Hounds Edge B. U.

Last Wednesday at Hillendale, Loyola edged Baltimore University by a one point margin, 5-4. The Hounds' very dependable captain, Chuck Pessagno, once again led the field this time with a solid 78, an especially good score considering the strong winds which played havoc with every shot. Chuck's 78 topped Hank Majeski, B.U.'s number one player. Bill Mislawski, Ed Conway and Tom Newbauer also won their matches, giving the Hounds their five point victory total.

Greyhound Track Squad At Relay Meet Tomorrow

Tomorrow, the Loyola track squad will run in the annual Mason Dixon Relays, held this year at Gallaudet University in D. C. The Hounds are the current champion in the four mile relay and will probably defend their crown in that event. The 880 and sprint medley relays are other possible entries for the Loyola thinclads.

In last week's action, Loyola split two meets, defeating Western Maryland and losing to Hopkins. On Wednesday at W. M., the distance trio of Hank McGraw, Lew Smith, and Bill Jenkins paced the Hounds to a 79 1/3-42 1/3 victory by sweeping all three places in both the mile and two mile runs. Arnie Sapperstein again took both dashes for the Hounds. Other winners for Loyola were high jumper Charlie Cherry, hurdler Tom Vondersmith, Rick Frampton in the 880 and Bill Smuck in the discus.

At Hopkins on Saturday, the outmanned Hounds gave the Jays a battle before losing out, 69-53, in the last two events. Rick Frampton was the Hound hero; despite a painful injury, he won the mile and 880, both in record time. Sharing the spotlight was Arnie Sapperstein who copped the century and the 220. Other big scorers for Loyola were Phil Pierpont, winner of the broad jump and 2nd in the 220; Tom Kenney, winner of the 440 and 3rd in the 220; high-jumper Charlie Cherry and Rick Campbell who placed in the weights and the broadjump. Also Denny Voith and Jim Smith registered strong second places for Loyola.

Layoff Aids Hound Ten

The recent two week layoff has helped rather than hindered Loyola's lacrosse squad. Jimmy Lamar, flashy mid-field and attack man, has rejoined the Hound ten after inactivity due to a bout with ineligibility. Before leaving the squad, Lamar had notched one goal, while adding three assists. Lamar's return should strengthen the team a great deal.

Also back from the ineligible ranks is Jacques Remmel, the Hounds' slick Freshman attacker from Edmonson High. Jacques was leading the squad in scoring before his "layoff."

Coach Charley Wenzel has also found a special slot for defense man Tom Milligan. Milligan has been appointed the Hounds' number one policeman. Whenever Wenzel plays his team man to man, Milligan does a fine job of holding down the other team's most threatening scorer.

When asked to comment on his squad's performance thus far, Coach Wenzel had this to say: "Academic inability on the part of several team members injured us terribly this season, but I see four bright spots in the pleasing performances of Tom Milligan, Jim Stuart, Ham Dugan, and Marty Pilsch."

Attackman, Marty Pilsch, relaxes prior to travelling to Homewood for Wednesday's game with the Blue Jays.

Intramurals

Action in the intramural softball league last week saw the Foul Bae-gels wallop the Chem Meds 13-4 and the Nifty Nine down the Jr. Mole-skins. In other action, heads up ball by third baseman John Heagney and catcher "jolly" Joe Curran saved the favored Madballs from an upset at the hands of the Flintstones when they picked a man off third base to end the game in a 7-7 tie.

Pagans In Finals

Lamar's Pagans came through last week to defeat the Handy Six 31 to 30 in overtime. Sparked by the outstanding board play of "Bear" Bogusky and the offensive "wizardry" of "Bear" Byrnes, the Pagans have earned a chance to play the "Six" for the championship. The deciding game will be played today at 10:00.

BACK AGAIN—Jim Lamar has returned to the lacrosse squad after a month's vacation.
